Spotlight

From the Executive Director

Since the last edition of this Newsletter it is my privilege to have taken up the role as the Executive Director of the Hong Kong Council of Accreditation for Academic and Vocational Qualifications (HKCAAVQ).

There has never been a more exciting time to take be involved in quality assurance of education. The educational landscape in Hong Kong is constantly changing and evolving. Over the years, there has been significant development of the higher education (HE) as well as vocational and professional education and training (VPET) sectors, coupled with a growing trend in transnational education which brings quality of education and the need for quality assurance in focus.

HKCAAVQ has laid down the blueprint for future development in its Strategic Plan 2015-2019. We have initiated various projects which focus on addressing the needs of stakeholders and contribute to the improvement of our practices. These include the Manual for Institutional Review (IR) for the purpose of applying for university title under Cap 320, the new classification system for Programme Area Accreditation (PAA), Liaison Committees for VPET and HE, and a Review of the Standards and Criteria we use in accreditation and review exercises.

The review of Standards and Criteria is a major exercise that will be rolled out over the next two years. The review is managed by the Secretariat and the work is overseen by a Council Task Force. However, it is not HKCAAVQ's task alone. We need input and feedback from all relevant stakeholders to ensure that the revised Standards and Criteria reflect the quality that we want to strive for in the future. We will there seek your active support in making the review success. Information about the review will be provided through our newsletter and website. Your continued support is of significant value to us to ensure that we provide quality services and continue to improve. I look forward to working with all of you in the coming years.

Happy 2016!
新年快樂！

HKCAAVQ 25th Anniversary

2015-2016 marks the 25th Anniversary of HKCAAVQ. To commemorate this special occasion, HKCAAVQ has organised a series of activities to share experience and insights into various topics regarding quality assurance of higher education and vocational and professional education and training.

Seminar on Effective Governance and Quality Assurance of Transnational Education held in September 2015

The celebration of the 25th Anniversary of HKCAAVQ began with the first thematic seminar on Effective Governance and Quality Assurance (QA) of Transnational Education (TNE). This was delivered by Dr Anna Ciccarelli, Fellow of The University of South Australia (UniSA), on 15 September 2015. Following Dr Ciccarelli's presentation was a Panel Discussion with local representatives from higher education institutions and professional bodies, including Mr Eric Ng, Registrar and Secretary of The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK); Dr Louis Ma, Director of the School of Continuing and Professional Education (SCOPE) of City University of Hong Kong; and Mr Albert Chow, Director of Qualifications cum Registrar of The Hong Kong Institution of Engineers (HKIE).

With 25 years' experience initiating and managing Australian international education programmes in an executive leadership role, Dr Ciccarelli shared her wealth of expertise with the audience on her views and analysis in the areas of challenges faced by host and home countries in ensuring effective governance and QA in TNE. The presentation focused on reflections of lessons learnt from Hong Kong as a host country and Australia as a source country; and the current and future trends in TNE. The key to ensuring effective governance and QA of TNE, according to Dr Ciccarelli, is the harmonisation of local and non-local QA frameworks, which can be achieved through continuous communication and cooperation with local and non-local QA and professional bodies. Local representatives at the Panel Discussion echoed Dr Ciccarelli's views and shared their experience and perspectives on the importance of safeguarding the quality of TNE programme delivery for the benefit of local learners, as well as the adaptation of an outcome-based approach in the QA process of TNE programmes.

The seminar held at Youth Square, Chai Wan, was attended by nearly 100 participants, including local and overseas Council Members, senior members of UGC-funded institutions, AAA operators, representatives from professional bodies and QA agencies, as well as professional staff of HKCAAVQ.

On 17 September 2015, HKCAAVQ held the major celebration of its silver jubilee, the 25th Anniversary Gala Dinner with close to 150 guests. The overwhelming support from all key stakeholders contributed to the undeniable success of the evening.

Mr Eddie Ng Hak-kim, SBS, JP, Secretary for Education, was invited as the Guest-of-Honour and delivered a thoughtful speech. Mr Ng said that HKCAAVQ has grown from humble beginnings to gradually establishing itself as a nationally and globally recognised independent quality assurance body. He emphasised the importance of HKCAAVQ having developed a robust quality assurance mechanism underpinning the Qualifications Framework, while also acting as a gatekeeper to safeguard the quality of learning programmes and qualifications.

The Honourable Martin Liao, then Chairman of HKCAAVQ in taking stock of past achievements, reiterated HKCAAVQ's commitment to contributing to the quality of education and training in Hong Kong and congratulated the new Chairman Dr Alex Chan as his successor.

HKCAAVQ also delivered to all guests its 25th Anniversary publication titled "Future Directors of Quality Assurance: Perspective from 10 Agencies", which has gathered valuable insights from QA agencies all around the world on future directions and challenges of quality assurance. The publication is available on our website: http://www.hkcaavq.edu.hk/files/publications/others/25AnniversaryPublication_Full.pdf

QR Updates

In 2014, the Liaison Committee on Quality Assurance (LCQA) conducted a review of the existing classification of 21 Areas of Study and Training on QR. In June 2015, LCQA endorsed a new broader classification system of 14 Areas of Study and Training for the QR. HKCAAVQ in its capacity as QR Authority is now in the process of adapting the QR system to the new classification system. The re-classification is targeted for completion in the first quarter of 2016 and the incorporation of sub-areas in the second quarter of 2016. An update on the progress of the changes will be provided to QR operators at the forthcoming QF Conference/QR Operators Briefing on 22 March 2016.

In response to concerns expressed in the annual QR Operators' survey about the user-friendliness of the "Export" function in the operators log-in interface, the usability of this function has been enhanced commencing from mid-January 2016. With an aim to facilitate operators to export their published QR records in a more convenient way, an addition of four selection criteria were incorporated in the interface, i.e. (a) Registration Status; (b) QR Registration Number; (c) Title of Qualification; and (d) Types of Qualification. Apart from these, the use of the "Keywords" data field in the qualification uploading process has been changed from mandatory to optional. To view these new features, operators can logon to QR via the link http://www.hkqr.gov.hk/HKQRPRD/web/hkqr-en/operators/Operators_Login/.

Capacity Building for Operators and HKCAAVQ Specialists

HKCAAVQ continues to provide training opportunities for Operators and Specialists:

Workshop on Writing Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes are the starting point of outcome-based programme development. With a view to strengthening operators' formulation of appropriate outcome statements that reflect programme objectives and the targeted QF Level, a workshop was arranged on 7 December 2015. 37 representatives from 17 operators attended and explored the relevant techniques in formulating outcome statements.

Tailor-made Training to Operators

HKCAAVQ continues to offer tailor-made training on request of operators in accordance with their training needs. Recently, HKCAAVQ has conducted tailor-made training events to different organisations on more advanced topics, including "Outcome-based Programme Design and Development" and "Exploring the Requirements for Programmes pitched at Level 5 of QF".

Refresher Workshop for Specialists

On 11 December 2015 a Refresher Workshop was arranged for Specialists who had already received the preliminary training or participated in accreditation exercises. The purpose of the workshop was to share with Specialists the global trends in quality assurance of education and training provision, to update Specialists on the latest development of quality assurance in HKCAAVQ, and to explore common issues encountered in the course of accreditation for the purpose of continuous improvement. 31 Specialists attended and appreciated the role plays and case studies in the Workshop.

Latest Update

Review of Accreditation Criteria and Standards

Since the launch of the Four-stage Quality Assurance Process in 2008, there have been a number of important developments in the education and training sector. To ensure that the accreditation criteria and standards included in the Four-stage Quality Assurance Process continue to be fit for purpose for the wide diversity of operators and learning programmes operating under the QF, a review of the criteria and standards will be conducted over the next two-years starting in late 2015. The review is monitored by a Taskforce set up by the Council.

The scope of the review will cover the accreditation criteria and standards used in the Four-stage Quality Assurance Process, Institutional Review for the purpose of seeking Cap 320 registration, and accreditation of Non-local Learning Programmes.

The review will make reference to current practices of quality assurance and accreditation standards, views from stakeholders, and both local and international practices and experiences.

Input will be sought from an Advisory Committee comprising members from a broad cross section of the education and training sectors, desktop research, and focus group meetings with stakeholders. Extensive consultations will be conducted to seek comments and support from stakeholders at a later stage of the development. A dedicated page will be set up on the HKCAAVQ website to post relevant information about the review and update on progress.

INQAAHE External Review Recommendations

Based on the report from the External Review Panel that undertook a review of HKCAAVQ against the International Network for Quality Assurance Agencies in Higher Education (INQAAHE) Guidelines of Good Practice in June 2015, the INQAAHE Board in October 2015 confirmed HKCAAVQ’s alignment with the Guidelines of Good Practice (GPP). Of the twelve individual Guidelines in the GPP, HKCAAVQ has demonstrated full alignment with eight and substantial alignment with four of them. The report prepared by the Review Panel explains the achievement of HKCAAVQ in each of the Guidelines. It also puts forth a number of commendations and recommendations, which are also supported by the INQAAHE Board. The Review report is available here.

The Review Panel commends HKCAAVQ, in particular for its:

- high level of commitment to the goals of the agency demonstrated by the Council members and the Secretariat as a whole.
- commitment to, and success in, disseminating documentation for the policies, procedures and criteria it uses in accreditation activities.
- high quality and expertise of the Case Officers appointed to support the entire process of accreditation and work as members of Panels.

The other commendations and the recommendations can be found in the Review Report. While noting the commendations, HKCAAVQ accepts the recommendations and is formulating initiatives to take forward these recommendations. The initiatives include the setting up of Stakeholders Liaison Committees to provide a platform for dialogue with representatives of our main stakeholders of accreditation services to discuss the parameters within which HKCAAVQ operates and topics of mutual interests related to the development of our services.
